Look at This.

"The last ten years have been very disastrous to insurance companies in the United States. More than sixty have failed altogether, and many others have reduced their capital stock or otherwise became greatly weakened. But there are a few that by prudent management and wise liberality on the part of stock holders are much stronger now then ever. Consider the following figures taken from the reports of the Insurance commissioner, of the state of New York, for 1864 and 1874.

ÆTNA of Hartford, Assets in 1864.	$3,500,439, 98
" " " 1874.	5,845,802, 03
Increase of assets in ten years,	2,045,302, 10
INSURANCE of North America, 1864.	$1,716,171, 78
" " " 1874.	3,263,000, 00
Increase of assets in ten years,	1,547,828, 22
ROYAL of Liverpool, (American Funds) Assets in 1864.	$1,837,984, 01
" " in 1874.	3,073,483, 86
Increase in ten years,	1,245,499, 70
HARTFORD, of Hartford, Assets, 1864.	$1,575,920, 48
" " " 1874.	2,415,681, 51
Increase in ten years,	839,761, 03

This wonderful growth during a term of unparalleled disaster is not the result of good fortune merely, for these companies have been the heaviest losers in Portland, Chicago, Boston and other cities, and have paid out millions of dollars each year. The facts commend themselves to persons who want RELIABLE insurance in these days of trial. A policy in such companies is worth twice as much as one in any of the untried institutions that are springing up on every hand. The rate is the same.

Dwelling houses and their contents insured for five years at very low prices—lower in fact than is charged by many of the Mutuals where the insured is liable to heavy assessments in case of a large fire in any of our larger towns.

Policies written on all classes of property, and losses paid at this agency.

LUCIUS D. DAVIS, Agt.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,
Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Frequently medicines that stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a billious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required. These medicines are prepared only by
J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E. corner Sixth and Arch streets, Phila.
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.
Dr. Schenck will be at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following Wednesdays: October 7th and 21st, November 4th and 18th, and December 2d, 16th and 30th. oct8

BRET HARTE ON CONFUCIUS.

(From Nast's Almanac (Harper's) for 1875.)

CONFUCIUS AND THE CHINESE CLASSICS.

TRANSLATED BY KI-TO-FAI.

Chinese Cosmogony.—In the beginning of the world, the world was Ktse Kiang, who died. His blood became rivers, his bones granite, his hair trees, &c., and finally, the insects which infested his body became people.

Confucius—His Habits.—In walking, the Master usually put one foot before the other; when he rested, it was generally on both legs.

If, in walking, he came upon a stone he would kick it out of his way; if it were too heavy, he would step over or around it.

Happening once to kick a large stone, he changed countenance.

The Superior Person wore his clothes in the ordinary manner, never putting his shoes upon his head nor his cap upon his feet.

He always kept the skirts of his robe before and behind evenly adjusted. He permitted not the unseemly exposure of his under-garment of linen at any time.

When he met his visitors he rushed towards them with his arms open like wings.

His Poetry.— The following was written in his sixty-fifth year, on leaving Loo:

"Oh, I fain would still look toward Loo;
But this Kwei hill cuts off my view—
With an axe I'd hew
This thicket all through
That obscures the clear prospect of Loo."

In later years the following was composed by his disciple Shun:

"There once was a sage called Confu-
Cius, whose remarks were not few;
He said, 'I will hew
This blessed hill through,'
While his friend's remarked quietly, 'Do.'"

His Ethics.—The Master said, "One virtue goes a great way. In a jar of chow-chow, properly flavored with ginger, even a dead mouse is palatable."

On Wau asking him if it were proper to put dead mice in chow chow, he replied, "It is the custom."

When he heard that Cheng had beheaded an entire province, he remarked, "This is carrying things to an excess."

On being asked his opinion of impalement he replied that "the end did no justify the means."

Hop Kee asked him how to tell the superior man. The Master replied, "How indeed!"

The Duke Shang asked him one day, "What constitutes the State?" Confucius replied, "The question is esinine."

His Jokes.—One day, being handed a two foot rule, Confucius opened it the wrong way, whereupon it broke. The Master said, quietly, that "it was a poor rule that wouldn't work both ways."

Observing that Wau Sing was much addicted to opium, the Master said, "Filial regard is always beautiful." "Why?" asked his disciples. "He loves his poppy," replied the Master, changing countenance.

"Is that Nankeen?" asked the great Mencius as he carelessly examined the robe that enfolded the bosom of the fair Yan Sing. "No," replied the Master, calmly, "that's Pekin."

HOW THIMBLES ARE MADE.—The manufacture of thimbles is very simple, but singularly interesting. Coin silver is mostly used and is obtained by purchasing coin dollars. Hence it happens that the profits of the business are affected instantaneously by all the variations in the nation's greenback promises to pay. The first operation strikes a novice as almost wicked, for it is nothing else than putting a lot of bright silver dollars, fresh from the mint, into dirty crucibles, and melting them up into solid ingots. These are rolled out to the required thickness, and cut by a stamp into circular pieces of any required size. A solid metal bar of the size of the inside of the intended thimble moved by powerful machinery up and down in a bottomless mold of the outside of the same thimble, bends the circular disks into the thimble shape as fast as they can be placed under the descending bar. Once in shape, the work of brightening, polishing and decorating is done upon a lathe. First, the blank form is fitted with a rapidly-revolving rod. A single touch of a sharp chisel takes a thin shaving from the end, another does the same on the side, and a third rounds off the rim. A round steel rod, dipped in oil and pressed upon the surface, gives it a lustrous polish. Then a little revolving steel wheel, whose edge is a raised ornament, held against the revolving blank, prints that ornament just outside the rim. A second wheel prints a different ornament around the center, while a third wheel with sharp points mades the indentations on the lower half and end of the thimble. The inside is brightened and polished in a similar way, the thimble being held in a revolving mold. All that remains to be done is to boil the completed thimbles in soapsuds, to remove the oil, brush them up, and pack them for the trade.

YALE'S HONORS.—The largest colleges seem to be most chary of honors. At Yale's last commencement but two honorary degrees of all sorts were conferred, viz., the degree of master of arts upon Prof. Carter of Williams college, and upon Prof. Niemeyer of Yale. Harvard and Brown are not profuse in giving honors; but some of our smaller, and particularly our western colleges, sell their honors cheaply. We rather like the example of Yale, though her sons complain that they have to go elsewhere for honors, while they are expected to make their endowments on their alma mater. Yale has on 42 anniversaries granted no literary honors; for nine years only one, and for 14 years, as, this year, only two persons have received honorary degrees. Since 1813, a period of over 40 years, Yale has made but three D. D.'s, viz., Rev. David Murdock in 1852, Rev. Henry Allen, 1871, and Rev. William M. Taylor, 1872, and one of these was a graduate of Glasgow university.—[Southington Reporter.

THE DAY.

It is said that New Bedford is to have a Democratic daily paper.

The Boston Transcript prefers Charles P. Thompson, Democrat, to Benjamin F Butler, Republican, as Congressman. Of course Ben has a poor opinion of the press.

Politics in Alabama seem to be in a South American condition and the politicians are literally on the war path. The Times's commissioner says that at Montgomery the Republican, which is the dominant, party is divided into two wings one of which is lead by an Austrian sheriff and the other by an Irish tax collector. Each of these parties endeavors to make the lives of its opponents burdensome. They break up each other's meetings, shoot at each other's speakers, knock the heads of prisoners from the other party against stone walls and act in general like Comanche Indians. Here there appear to be genuine outrages enough to satisfy the Chattanooga convention, but they're not of the right kind.

The communion question is seriously troubling the Baptist churches. The Lee avenue church, J. Hyatt Smith, pastor, has been cut off by the Long Island association and two others have virtually withdrawn, though all claim to be true and genuine Baptists. The Lee avenue church in its protest to the association says:

> The venerable Warren association in the land of Roger Williams, the parent association in America, stands ready with "open doors" to receive your disowned sister into the fellowship and faith of her household. The Hudson River Association North, by her recent action in retaining in full membership the church in Albany, whose position and practice are the same as Lee avenue, also bids us welcome.
>
> But we prefer to wait, either for the formation of another association, or for a day not far distant, when the present association of Long Island, repenting the haste of this hour, and better understanding the spirit of our church, and the liberty and love everywhere prevalent in the one glorious church of Christ, will ask us to return to our former and proper home. Meanwhile, earnestly praying for all spiritual blessings upon the several churches composing your body, we bid you an affectionate farewell.

ONE MAN POWER.

With respect to the merits or demerits of the third term there is no occasion for us to say anything, but there is one phase of the project and its reception that is worthy of the most careful notice. On the part of many newspapers and politicians there is a strong desire to get the President to commit himself. Men who are otherwise of sound mind, seem afraid lest the President shall avow himself a candidate for a second reëlection. This indicates an unhealthy condition of the body politic. If it is true that a President can reëlect himself then Cæsarism is already here. If it is not true, then there is a great deal of senseless clamor on the part of the public. The general supposition is that the people elect Presidents. If this is true then it makes no difference whether President Grant wants a third term or not; the people will give it or not as they see fit. But if it is a fact that the masses of the people are in the hands of the managing politicians as clay is in the hands of the potter, then a silent revolution has already taken place and instead of being a democracy we are under the worst government in the world,—an oligarchy. It is high time we know whether or not we have any reason to fear if a certain man, whoever he may be, declares himself a candidate for office.

Allied to this fear of a third term declaration is something which we see occasionally in our sister state of Massachusetts. How did every paper in the state last Summer lengthen and expand its ears and direct them toward Gloucester! What fears there were that a certain member of Congress should express a wish to be nominated for governor! What a sigh of relief was drawn by all those papers when the great Gen. Bugaboo drew in his claws, composed his features into a bland smile, and assured the people that they need not be afraid,—he was not a candidate!

This fear of a candidate in Massachusetts and in the country at large is either arrant cowardice or else it is proof that our institutions have changed and if a candidate fixes things with a few influential politicians he is certain to be elected and the people can't help themselves. To return to our starting point, if it makes any particular difference what Gen. Grant's opinion of a third term is then it is high time that the nation realized the growth of the one man power in the last ten years. If it doesn't make any difference then stop bothering the President with impertinent questions.

PERSONALS.

......Mr. George P. Lathrop, the author of many critical papers in the Atlantic Monthly which have won him an excellent reputation, is about to remove his residence from Cambridge Mass., to New York.

......Miss Julia Love, the daughter of the editor of the Northern Christian Advocate, has been appointed medical missionary to Moradabad, India. She is a graduate of the medical department of the Michigan University.

......The Chicago Tribune as the result of interviews with all the prominent Episcopal clergymen of that city whom it could find, concludes as follows: "There is no doubt about the unanimity of his diocese against ritualism but there is a decided difference as to whether Dr. Seymour was justly identified with ritualism."

......Just now Washington's literary world is busily engaged in poring over an imported English book containing a list of those exiled to this country from 1622 to 1700, The F. F. V.'s of Virginia don't make a very good showing—the Fauntleroys were convicts, the Mason père sold for a term of years, and Mason mère a "servant wench"; the Leighs were transported for sheep-stealing, and the Lees convicts.

......To the many friends of the late Rev. Dr. Gannett, of Boston, who was first the associate pastor and afterwards the successor of William Ellery Channing, the announcement of the publication of his life by his son, the Rev. W. C. Gannett, will be very gratifying. It will be published in December, by Messrs. Roberts, in an octavo volume, with appropriate likeness of Dr. Gannett.

......Two clergymen of considerable repute died last week in western New York—the Rev. Albert Clarke Patterson at Buffalo, and the Rev. Schuyler Seager, D. D. at Lockport. Mr. Patterson was a classmate of Charles Sumner in the Boston Latin School, and was graduated at Harvard College with high honors in 1830. He completed his studies at the Cambridge (Mass) Divinity School, and became the pastor of the Unitarian church at Buffalo. Subsequently he took orders in the Episcopal church and organized Grace church in Utica and Grace church in Jersey city. Afterwards he resided at Skaneateles, N. Y.; and then became rector of the Church of the Ascension in Buffalo. Two years later he returned to Boston, but about five years ago went back to Buffalo, where he remained until his death. Dr. Seager was a graduate of Wesleyan University, and was for a number of years principal of the Genesee Wesleyan and the Denville Seminaries. His last charge was the church at Niagara Falls and at the session of the Western New York conference, a few weeks since, he was placed on the superannuated list.

NEWS ITEMS.

The new trade dollar prepared especially for circulation in China and Japan has already displaced $3,000,000 in Mexican coin in those countries.

The other day, a Newark man who went to his well to draw a pail of water found that it had a strong mineral flavor. A chemist analyzed it and found it to contain excellent medicinal properties. The neighbors came in, drank some, and smacked their lips with a gusto. It was a big thing, and no mistake, said the proprietor. Alas! a day or two later, it was discovered that one of the vats in a neighboring patent-leather factory was leaking, and the fellows who had been taking a dozen glasses every morning for their health are now talking of bringing suits for damages against the well-man.

The apple crop in some parts of Massachusetts must be marvellously fine this season, if this story, told by a local newspaper, be true: "A West Newbury farmer, before beginning to pick his apples, went to Georgetown and bought two hundred and fifty barrels, thinking that two hundred would contain his apples and fifty his crop of onions. He went at his trees and filled all his barrels with apples, bought another hundred in Georgetown and filled them, bought another hundred in Newburyport and filled them, and on Thursday was negotiating for a hundred barrels more. He told a friend that where he expected three barrels on a tree he picked nearly seven."

Railroads have been the means of levelling at least 150,000 acres of trees annually for ties, of which they use sixty millions annually. Fences are also enormous consumers of trees. The outrageous waste of timber caused by the felling of forests and burning of trees to bring the land under cultivation, goes on still at a fearful rate. From 1860 to 1870, no less than twelve million acres of forest were thus wantonly destroyed. For fuel also vast tracts are levelled of their trees. It took 10,000 acres of forest to supply Chicago with fuel in one year, 1871. Our annual decrease of forest from all these causes, is not far from 8,000,000 acres. Yet we plant only 10,000 acres of new forest a year. The necessity for a commission of forestry, and the need of efficient laws in all the states for the preservation of our forests, need no further argument than these facts.

Not long ago a paragraph was in circulation, the intent of which was to show that the rewards of literary labor are by no means so insignificant as they have been commonly represented. In support of this assertion it was stated that Alfred Tennyson had received fully $300,000 from his publishers, and that the gains of Charles Dickens during his lifetime were more than twice as large as those of the poet laureate. There are no means of verifying these figures, but if we admit their correctness, they only go to prove that novelists and poets of the first rank are not nearly so well paid as actors of equal eminence in their chosen profession. Mr. Sothern, for instance, has played Lord Dundreary nearly 5000 times, and if he has received upon an average $400 for each performance, this single character has brought him the enormous sum of $2,000,000! Mr. Jefferson has appeared about 2000 times as Rip Van Winkle, and if he received $500 for each representation (his terms when he plays for certainty are $600, and when he shares with the management he often takes $1000 for half a dozen performances), he must have acquired $1,000,000 by this single fortunate creation. It would therefore appear that the "youngest of the sister arts" is far more lucrative as a profession—to those who win highest honors—than literature. But poets and novelists have one compensation—their fame is broader and more enduring than the actor's.

—The present pleasant weather is favorable for the work on the Bessie Rogers. The wreckers are able to lift her about eight feet at high tide and move her half her length toward shoal water. The process, however, is very slow and delays are constantly occurring.

—Mr. Charles Spooner and Mr. William S. Cranston, J., were out riding this morning in a low buggy when the horse was frightened by a dog running across the street. The horse shied and ran the buggy onto a bank and tipped it over emptying both the occupants. The horse ran two or three hundred yards and was then stopped. Both the gentlemen were stunned, but soon revived and were brought home and medical aid was summoned. It is believed that a buggy wheel passed over Mr. Spooner's back. The injuries of both gentlemen are severe but they are not considered dangerous.

Reserved Seats.—Those wishing reserved seats at the lecture should remember to buy their season tickets in time, and to be ready at or before 9 A. M. at the Opera House on Saturday, in order to exchange them for reserved seats. In answer to inquiry, we are authorized to state that the selection will be absolutely free, and that the first comer will have his choice of every reserved seat. The directors themselves must stand in line in person or by deputy, and not one of them can select more than his ten seats. Last year, two of the directors got no reserved seats at all, and one got seats so undesirable that those to whom he gave tickets rarely used the seats, but took their chance elsewhere. This shows conclusively that no favoritism was practiced last year, and there will be none this year. First come, first served.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

Lucius D. Davis has sold a strip of land on the south side of Clinton avenue, measuring 150 feet by 12 inches, to Thomas Aspinall for $100.

Of Interest to Tivertonians.—The following card is from the Newburyport Herald:

On Sunday, the 18th inst., the schooner Comet, of this port, was dismasted off Race Point. The masts, rigging and sails were picked up by Capt. Clorah, of the schooner Antelope, belonging to Tiverton, R. I., and like a true son of Neptune ever ready and willing to help a fellow sufferer while cruising upon the ocean of life, he kindly towed them to Provincetown, and refused to take any compensation. Such an act, of disinterested benevolence shines forth like an oasis in the desert, and we sincerely hope should any misfortune ever happen to him, the same sympathetic feeling that he has bestowed upon others may be meted out to him. We feel under great obligations for his kindness and take this method to express it. When the last entry in his log is finished closing up his voyage on earth may he be safely moored in that port where storms are hushed and billows break no more.

NICHOLAS FELCH.

Newburyport, October 27th, 1874.

Little Compton.—Mr. C. C. Burleigh, the lecturer, is in town visiting his brother, the poet, and lectured Monday evening at the Methodist church—subject, "Universal Suffrage," and will lecture Thursday evening, at the Congregational church, on the "Evidences of the Immortality of the Soul." This remarkable member of a remarkable family, whose birthplace was Plainfield, Conn., was the son of a Congregational deacon, who, for a long time, was the principal of Plainfield academy, a somewhat famous seat of learning fifty years ago, and largely patronized by the young men at that time in western Rhode Island. It is said that the sons of ministers and deacons are not famous for following in the footsteps of their fathers. In this case, with one exception, the family have shown little fondness for established creeds and orthodox notions.

Mr. William Brown, one of our most valued Summer residents, left with his family last week for his Winter home in Boston.

Temperance meetings, under the direction of Mr. Conant, are to be held here next Saturday.

The repairs on the Church house are being rapidly pushed forward to completion, and the general architecture of the structure will remain unchanged. A son of Thomas Church, the builder, sold this house, with the farm thereunto belonging, to Daniel Wilbour. Since then the farm has been divided and subdivided, though it has mostly remained in the Wilbour family. Now, however, it is again entire, and is owned and occupied by Mr. Benjamin F. Wilbour. The mother of the late Bishop Thomas Church Brownell, of Hartford, was a near relative of this Thomas Church, and from him took his given name.

A LIVING AUTOMATON.

Galignani's Messenger describes a patient in one of the Paris hospitals whose case is remarkable in its manifestations, and an interesting study to pathologists: "His profession was that of a singer at the cafes chantants. During the war of 1870-71 he was hit over the left ear by a musket bullet, which carried off about two and a half inches of the parietal bone, and laid bare the brain on the left side. This led to a temporary paralysis of the members on the opposite side, as is always the case; but he was eventually cured of this, while the tremendous wound on the skull began to heal, so that after a time he could resume his professional duties at the cafes to the satisfaction of the public. Suddenly, however, he was seized with nervous symptoms, lasting from twenty four to forty eight hours, and of such an extraordinary nature that it was considered safe to take him to the hospital. His malady is easier to illustrate by examples than to define. When he is in his fit he has no sensitiveness of his own, and will bear physical pain without being aware of it, but his will may be influenced by contact with exterior objects. Set him on his feet and as soon as they touch the ground they awaken in him the desire of walking; he then marches straight on quite steadily, with fixed eyes, without saying a word or knowing what is going on about him. If he meets with an obstacle on his way he will touch it and try to make out by feeling what it is, and then attempt to get out of its way. If several persons join hands and form a ring around him he will try to find an opening by repeatedly crossing over from one side to the other, and this without betraying the slightest consciousness or impatience. Put a pen into his hand; this will instantly awaken in him a desire of writing; he will fumble about for ink and paper, and if these be placed before him he will write a very sensible business letter, but when the fit is over he will recollect nothing at all about it. Give him some cigarette paper, and he will instantly take out his tobacco-bag, roll a cigarette very cleverly, and light it with a match from his own box. Put them out one after another, he will try from first to last to get a light, and put up in the end with his ill-success. But ignite a match yourself and give it to him, he will not use it, and let it burn between his fingers. Fill his tobacco-bag with anything, no matter what—shavings, cotton, lint, hay, &c.—he will roll his cigarette just the same, light and smoke it without perceiving the hoax. But, better still, put a pair of gloves in his hand, and he will put them on at once; this, reminding him of his profession, will make him look for his music. A roll of paper is then given to him, upon which he assumes the attitude of a singer before the public, and warbles some piece of his repertory. If you place yourself before him, he will feel about on your person, and, meeting with your watch, he will transfer it from your pocket to his own; but, on the other hand, he will allow you, without any resistance or impatience whatever, to take it back again."

ROBINSON CRUSOE'S ISLAND.

Crusoe's Island is today a little paradise, Lord planted there. on one of his voyages, apples, peaches, grapes, plums, strawberries, and several kinds of vegetables. The number of the latter were increased by a Scotchman, David Douglas, who landed on the island in 1825. He was not a little astonished to find a hermit there, who had been on the island five years. On the second day he was not a little surprised to see a man suddenly emerge from a clump of bushes and approach him. He looked upon himself as Crusoe's successor, although he did not occupy the historical cave, having built himself a hut of stones and sods, roofing it with the straw of wild oats. As cooking utensils, he possessed only a single iron pot the bottom of which, one unfortunate day had fallen out. This damage he had, however, had the ingenuity to repair with a wooden bottom; but now he was compelled to place his pot in the ground and build a fire around it. This man's name was William Clarke, and he came from London. He had a few books, and among them there was a copy of Robinson Crusoe's adventures and of Cowper's poems. He called Douglass's attention especially to the well known poem beginning—

> "I am monarch of all I survey,
> My right there is none to dispute," etc.

Nevertheless, he did not seem to be happy. There was one wish, his greatest, that he could not gratify—he could get no roast beef!

At present, this island is in the possession of a colony of Germans. Sixty or seventy of our countrymen, under the leadership of an engineer named Robert Wehrhahn, settled there in 1868. They describe the island as being in the highest degree salubrious and fruitful. On their arrival they found large flocks of goats, about thirty half-wild horses and some sixty asses. They brought with them cows, hogs, fowls, farming utensils, small boats and fishing tackle.—[From the German in Appletons' Journal.

The Horse-thief in Poetry.—In Missouri fact and poesy—the irregular "appropriation" of other people's horses and the painful result following—find rhythmic expression in words to this effect, to wit, viz.:

> He found a rope, and picked it up,
> And with it walked away;
> It happened that to t'other end
> A horse was hitched, they say.
>
> They found a tree, and tied the rope
> Unto a swinging limb;
> It happened that the other end
> Was somehow hitched to him.

RHODE ISLAND AND FRUITS.

The state of Rhode Island, so highly favored in so many respects, seems to be regaining, if not more than regaining, its character for the perfection and abundance of its fruits. Our pomologists tell us that the present year exceeds in yield and fairness any year almost within memory. It has been generally supposed that this profusion was equally distributed throughout New England, but such seems not to have been the case. Rhode Island, Massachusetts and one other state appear to have been especially favored. In our state there has been an abundance, which has given to all, whether raisers of fruit or not, a full supply. Most of us have been glad to give away apples and pears, almost without stint, to those who have no land of their own; and anybody could purchase apples at very low prices. The effect of this upon the health of the community can hardly be over-estimated. Ripe fruit is the best of food, and of its palatableness all have personal and agreeable knowledge. This year the quality of our apples is better than usual. Of late our fairest Baldwins and Greenings have come from the West; but this year our Greenings are better than the average of those imported last year.

The exhibitions of our Horticultural Society, and of the local societies, have done much in this behalf. To Silas Moore, R. I. Moore, Judge Dexter, Robert Cushman, and Mr. Mansfield of the Woonsocket society, the state is greatly indebted. Others have done much, and all through the commonwealth are individuals who have made it a labor of love to cultivate to its highest excellence some sort of fruit. We were not prepared, however, for the statement made to us by Mr. R. I. Moore, that the two towns of Exeter and Richmond will gather this year from eight to ten thousand bushels of cultivated cranberries. This means an income of nearly or quite thirty thousand dollars. And it means much more. It means that in this state, this crop might be almost indefinitely increased. And as there is always a ready market for this berry at good prices, there would seem to be a field for special farming which might well be improved. Of course in raising cranberries, as in everything else, it is important to know how the thing is to be done; and there are liabilities, which to the ignorant and the careless, are formidable. But the proper conditions being complied with, and they are neither intricate nor grievously expensive, cranberries can be raised as readily as potatoes.

Not many years since we asked a farmer who has a large natural cranberry meadow and facilities, including plenty of money, to make it perfect, why he did not improve his opportunity. His reply was that the berry plant was spreading gradually, and that it cost nothing. Now, one or two, perhaps five thousand dollars, expended on this place, would have paid a much larger interest than the money in bank; it would have improved the appearance of the place; it would have stimulated neighbors with less land, but favorably situated, to engage in the same work; it would have added to the wealth of the state, and rendered a comparatively useless and unsightly piece of land a profitable and charming expanse. We talk, and tell the truth about our run down farms and pastures growing up to wood, but there are phases of farming which pay. Great as has been the change in our industries, there is no need of our giving up agriculture. As plenty as apples are now in the Spring, they will bring a good price. We do not keep our pears or our grapes as we might and ought; and if Mr. Moore will show us how to grow healthy quinces in our gardens, he will do a good work and sell lots of quince bushes. One thing we never do thoroughly enough, and that is thinning out fruit. We vow in the Fall, but we hesitate in the Spring.—[Providence Journal.

☞ The undoubted utility of Milk of Magnesia, both as a preventive and a cure, of the summer complaints of children should prompt the boards of health of all large cities to order its distribution gratuitously among the poorer residents of densely populated districts. oct23-1m

Systems Run Down.

Persons often allow their systems to "run down," or rather run them down by overwork, accompanied by a neglect of the proper means of invigoration. The result is what is called "general debility;" in other words, a failure and partial collapse of the physical forces, accompanied usually by great depression of spirits.

The best remedy in such cases is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Whether the state of exhaustion has been brought on by excessive physical labor, dissipation, anxiety of mind, exposure, or any other cause, the remedial effect of this great stomachic will be found equally prompt and certain. As a restorative after severe sickness has prostrated the bodily and mental energies, it is pronounced by competent medical authority the best tonic in use. If men were not foolishly careless about their health, and over-confident in themselves, they would always, when engaged in any work that required great exertion, use corresponding means of sustaining their strength. For this purpose Hostetter's Bitters are invaluable. All toilers should use them as an invigorant.

For those constantly employed in in-door occupations, especially in crowded workshops, they may be reckoned as the very best safeguard of health. Where there is a predisposition to constipation, or a tendency to biliousness, they may be truly said to be a specific for which there is no substitute. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for indigestion without being benefited, the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues. oct-22

☞ One of the most serious objections to the use of Magnesia, both carbonate and calcined, which is in common use, is that it adheres to the coat of the stomach and intestines, and occasions obstructions, which are annoying, and often productive of disease. Such an incident never occurs in the use of Milk of Magnesia. oct28-1m

If the druggist offers any kind of herb-flavored alcohol for dyspepsia, biliousness, or any other ailment, tell him that you want "medicine," not a "bar-room drink." Ask him for Dr. Walker's California Bitters, the best regulating preparation known and which you know is free from "Satan's Elixir." Reject all the fiery "Tonics" and "Appetizers," and cling to that remedy. There is no medicine that compares with it. oct19-4w

☞ Milk of Magnesia is the best and safest remedy yet discovered for all diseases with which children are afflicted. It corrects sourness or acidity of the stomach, gives the child a quiet, natural sleep, and invigorates the stomach and bowels. This valuable preparation is prescribed by the leading physicians. Newport Daily News.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1874.

GENERAL NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Trouble with the Indians About the Flag-Staff.—The Official Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.

The commissioner of Indian affairs has received via Fort Laramie the following telegram from Agent Saville, dated at Red Cloud Agency the 24th inst:

Yesterday I had a pole brought here for a flag-staff and some Indians raised objections to having the flag at the agency. Today a large number of Indians, armed and painted, came in and cut the pole in pieces. I called upon Red Cloud, who was present to prevent it, but he refused. I then called upon the military for protection. A squad of the Twenty-sixth cavalry, under command of Lieutenant Crawford, responded, and bravely marched through several hundred painted Indians. Many of the agency Indians used all their exertions to prevent a collision. The leaders of this party are worthless Indians, and are the same men who raised the disturbance at this agency last Fall.

FROM NEW YORK.

Gov. Dix and the Third Term.—Comments of the New York City Press.

The Tribune says the announcement of Gov. Dix's opposition to the third term has been delayed too long to be of effect. The World claims that Dix bases his assertion that Grant does not desire or intend a third term upon the fact, that when Grant gets ready to step out he will suit himself by doing so. The Herald says the hurling of defiance by Dix last night to the third term was bravely done, but too late. The Times commends the utterance of Dix against the third term, and says this ought to satisfy any one. The Republic says the public announcement by Gov. Dix of what has been known for a long time of his opposition to a third term, has punctured the last soap bubble of the Democratic party. The Sun has nothing editorially to say on the subject.

FROM NEW YORK.

Louisiana Matters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.

A New Orleans dispatch says copies of several telegaams have been shown there, said to have been found among the effects of Harrington (at Washington), the safe conspirator. One is from "Morton" to Cameron, saying he will send ten thousand dollars to him, which he had received on Casey's account from West. Another is dated December 13th, 1873, from J. J. McP. (believed to be clerk McPherson), asking O. P. Morton if he should open negotiations with Casey, and W. for the Louisiana campaign. "Babcock says Harrington had better act for us." Another one from J. J. McP. to Harrington, dated House of Representatives, February 27, 1874, says: "Senator——left $8,000 for Senatorial use. This makes $17,500 advanced by Casey for the Kellogg government, with what was paid to the Attorney General and Morton. There is money in Louisiana, and Grant will stick to Casey." These were shown to Kellogg yesterday, and he says they are lies and forgeries.

The Arrests at Shreveport.

The same dispatch says Attorney General Beckwith declines saying anything about further arrests. Gen. Emory has called on Gen. Merrill for a report of the circumstances of his action at Shreveport, and if justified, Gen. Emory will disapprove such action. The Democratic state committee have protested to Gen. Emory against the arrests at Shreveport.

A later New Orleans special says General Emory received an answer from General Merrill by telegraph, but what the answer was is not stated. General Emory, however, expressed the hope that troubles in northern Louisiana had been greatly exaggerated.

Hostile Demonstrations in Colorado and Montana.

A Granada (Colorado) dispatch of the 26th states that Indians made their appearance, and attempted a raid in the vicinity of Buffalo station, on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, driving five families into the station. They subsequently threatened Pierceville on the Santa Fe Railroad, but a small detachment of troops being there, the Indians fled. Scouts of cavalry were sent out from Fort Dodge, but the indications are that the main body of Indians are fleeing to the agencies with Gen. Miles's troops after them.

A Bismarck, Dak., dispatch states that the region about Fort Peck, Montana, is swarming with Indians, making hostile demonstrations. Steamers on Milk river have been recently fired into, and Col. Moore, a passenger, was wounded. The Indians are vexed at not yet receiving their annuity goods from Indian agents, which are due them.

Destitution in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Oct. 27.

Information received here from southwestern Nebraska shows that thousands of people are in a starving condition. One informant saw many who for weeks had nothing to eat but baked squash and pumpkin and salt, and others who had lived on baked flour and water, one meal a day, for weeks. Ten thousand people in this state will need aid sufficient to keep them from starvation and cold during the Winter. Hundreds of people are naked and on the verge of starvation, and without the means to leave the state. Snow fell at Laramie and Cheyenne today, and there is a heavy rain here.

The Mill Creek Sewer Accident.—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.

The coroner's jury, investigating the case of the parties killed by the caving in of Mill Creek sewer, in Philadelphia, concluded their labors by a verdict that the sewer was faulty and defective in construction, and not built in compliance with the terms of the contract between the city and Charles J. and James F. Kennedy, on the 30th of June, 1869.

The Latest Ku Klux Outrage in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 27.

The Courier-Journal's Selbyville (Ky.) special to-night, says the young negro girl shot by masked men Sunday morning, will probably recover. The affair produced intense excitement in the county. The place where the outrage was committed is among the hills and is inhabited by a very rough population. A correspondent of the Courier-Journal had a conversation with Governor Leslie, at Frankfort, to-night, relative to the outrage, in which the governor said he had yet no further information as to the affair than the account in the papers, but as soon as he has official reports from county officers, he will use every power vested in him as chief executive of the state to bring these outlaws to justice, as indeed he intends to use his power to put down lawlessness and violence in any part of the state in which they may come out. Governor Leslie's prompt action in other recent cases of the kind is a guarantee that he means what he says.

The Gloucester Fishery.—A Further Loss of Life.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 27.

Schooner Belerophon, of this port, arrived at Halifax today. She reports the loss of the Captain and one of the crew while out trawl fishing on Grand Banks.

Alabama and Mississippi Cotton Crop Reports.

MOBILE, Oct. 27.

The Mobile Cotton Exchange reports frosts general in Alabama, but little damage therefrom. The picking is two-thirds completed, and will be finished by the 15th of November. It is cleaner than usual. Twelve counties report 25 per cent. increase in the yield, and twenty-four counties 25 per cent. decrease. From Mississippi reports are received from seventeen counties. One reports an increase of 25 per cent. another about the same as last year, and fifteen report an average decrease of 33 per cent. The condition is the same as Alabama.

Strike of Spinners at the Baltic Cotton Mills.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 27.

The mule spinners in the Baltic mills, belonging to the Sprague estate, refused to accede to the proposed reduction of wages of ten per cent., running on full time, and have struck. The mill has consequently shut down, and unless the spinners accede to the new arrangement in a short time, the mill will get new help and resume.

Arrests for Violating the Enforcement Act in Georgia.

SAVANNAH, GA., Oct. 27.

Four white citizens were brought to this city by the deputy United States marshals from Scriven county today, charged with violating the enforcement act at the recent state election. The affair was a rough fight between one or two blacks and whites, in which the former were routed.

THE GIRL OF THE PERIOD.

The St. Louis Globe treats of the "cheeky girl" as follows: "In outward adornment the cheeky girl endeavors to keep, if possible, just a little bit ahead of the style, and is the delight of milliners, shoemakers, haberdashers, and the dealers in those miscellaneous knick-knacks which are the indispensable mark of the cheeky girl. She outvies the shepherdess in her hat, the stage-dancer in her boots, the concert soprano in the buttons on her gloves, and the Comanche in the trophies which hang suspended from her belt. The dress reformer stands appalled at the monstrosity of her outfit, and the strong-minded woman is lost in awe before the courage which can face the world with an ivory fan, a cross-handled sunshade, an inlaid vinaigrette, a Russia leather pocket-book, a bead worked alms-bag and a lace handkerchief, all dependent from an attenuated waist and marking the cadence of a step which is accented by a pinched toe and a wobbly heel.

In addition to these adventitious adornments, the cheeky girl will generally be endowed with black eyebrows, yellow hair, a pink nose, a bad complexion where the rouge is not, and a worse one where it is, and this precious casket of the body enshrines the yet more precious jewel of her mind. Her conversation, which runs on glibly through the first astounding personalities and sly insinuations, begins to waver when her small stock of slang is exhausted, and dies away utterly when she has used up such of her acquaintances as recur to her mind. In the far corner of a ball-room she has been known to entertain a very young man for as much as an hour, and under the exhilarating stimulus of a flirtation, in sight of all the world but out of hearing, she could probably struggle on against conventional difficulties indefinitely. But the presence of a third party has the same effect as the presence of a young lady on a discussion of the Beecher-Tilton question, and a visible unrest and uneasiness prompt the cheeky girl to escape. What wisdom she utters in those delightful solitudes of the heart where only two can enter has not been revealed to man, but in the ordinary intercourse of society her theme is always her congeners her rhetorical embellishment merely slang.

Her slang can always be relied on to be the latest, as in consequence of her head being unable to hold more than one idea at a time she is unable to make room for this year's idiocies of the street Arabs without forgetting those which were wont to charm her friends last year. The same peculiarity extends to her musical repertoire, which consists of odd lines, perhaps verses and perhaps only a fragment of an air, which will be wafted on the winds from the hand-organs of the coming Spring. And if the pauses of your conversation with the cheeky girl are filled up by amusing interpolations from the 'Mulligan Guards,' this has only been accomplished by blotting from the memory the obsolete beauties of the 'Fille de Madame Angot.'"

GHASTLY THEFT.—An old soldier in Sicily gave his wife a silk dress. His wife died and was buried in the dress. Some weeks after the old soldier saw this dress on a woman in the country, and, making inquiry, was told she had purchased it from the Capuchin monks, who had the custody of the village cemetery. He reported the case to the police, who investigated and made the discovery that a regular trade was carried on in effects taken from dead bodies. There was even a trade in hair.

HOME TESTIMONY.

Testimony of Mr. Burns,

GROCER AT 42 FERRY STREET.

(From Fall River News.)

For the good of the community, and Dr. Carpenter, of the Mount Hope House, I advertise my cure. I suffered many years from a dangerous, disagreeable disease of my head, was not able to breathe through my nose, and the collections passed down my throat, and was gradually undermining my health. Dr. Carpenter's treatment, last Spring, cured me. I am now well, and in good condition. HENRY BURNS.

Fall River, Oct. 8th, 1874.

DEAFNESS CURED.

STATEMENT OF A RESIDENT OF FALL RIVER.

This certifies that Dr Carpenter, at the Mount Hope House, has cured me of Deafness and Discharges of the Ear of many years' standing. When I applied to Dr. C., I could not hear unless addressed close to my ear, and was totally unfit for business. A course of Dr. C.'s treatment has cured the discharges, and restored my hearing so that I can hear the tick of a watch a foot from my ear, and ordinary conversation without difficulty. My friends are more than pleased, for they did not think I could be cured, as I had been treated by several doctors and received no benefit.—As my acquaintance in Fall River is not large I will refer to Mr. Geo. E. Buffinton, No. 57 Pleasant street, who is well known and conversant with all the facts of my case. GEO. C. HANLON,
45 Second Street.

Fall River, Oct. 1.

A CARD FROM WALTER SCOTT, Esq.,

EDITOR OF BORDER CITY HERALD, OF FALL RIVER.

I have known Dr. Carpenter since he commenced practice in this city, and I am satisfied that he is a skillful physician and has been successful in the treatment of a great majority of the cases in which he has been consulted. Of my own personal knowledge, I have reason to testify that quite a number of the individuals cured were nearly hopeless in their condition; some about blind, others deaf, and others laboring under Bronchial and Catarrhal affections, and I have seen the same persons restored under his treatment to their normal state of health. I therefore, knowing these things, without hesitation recommend him to persons suffering from the maladies he has made his special study for years. WALTER SCOTT.

Letter from Mr. Burns.

(From Fall River News.)

FALL RIVER, May 15, 1874.

MR. EDITOR:—I wish to acknowledge through your paper the debt I owe Dr. Carpenter, who saved me from blindness. I was taken down in February with a severe, acute inflammation, which confined me to the house several weeks. The malady was so dangerous that for many days the loss of one eye was imminent, but the Doctor's constant attention, tender and successful treatment saved my sight, and I am now well and about my business as usual.

VOICE RESTORED.

TESTIMONY OF MISS GARDNER.

(From Fall River News.)

DR. CARPENTER:—Dear Sir,—My thanks and gratitude are yours. When we consulted you last April, I was miserable indeed; I had lost both my health and my voice, and for two and a half years I could only whisper faintly. I had been doctored so much that we had little faith in the ability of any physician to restore me, but your treatment has performed a cure. I can talk aloud, and my health is good, better than for years. You may publish this if you wish; and as I do not reside in Fall River, I will refer to Mr. Wm. H. Mason, No. 34 North Main street, and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Rounds, No. 61 Durfee street, with whom I resided during treatment. Respectfully yours,
MISS HATTIE GARDNER.

Swansea, Mass., Sept. 16, 1874.

Scrofula and St. Vitus Dance Cured.

(From Fall River Herald.)

When we took our daughter Ellen to Dr. Carpenter last May, at the Mount Hope House, she was in a terrible condition from Scrofula and St. Vitus Dance, and was not willing to go among folks, for her limbs jerked and twitched so she had not much control over them, but through Dr. Carpenter's skill she has been restored and is now well. We want this cure known, for some of our acquaintances have taken their children to Europe for treatment, thinking they could not be cured in this country. This case is well known by our neighbors. GEORGE HEAP,
White Block, Border City Mills.

Fall River, Sept. 10, 1874.

Mr. A. D. White's Card.

(From Fall River News.)

FALL RIVER, May 23, 1874.

To my Friends and the Public:

It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. Carpenter in the treatment of my Ears, which were a source of trouble and annoyance to me more than twenty years. Dr. C.'s treatment restored them, and they have been well several months. I have great confidence in Dr. Carpenter's skill and success in practice, and do not hesitate to recommend him.

Catarrh and Blindness.

(From Fall River News.)

Testimony of Mrs. J. Clomb, of Fall River.

I was diseased with an aggravated form of Catarrh ten years, and in consequence my eyes became affected in December last, and grew worse until I could not go about without being led. Was under the care of several doctors and at the Boston Infirmary, but got no help until I consulted Dr. Carpenter at the Mount Hope House, April 2d. Under his treatment I began to improve immediately, and now I consider myself cured. I think everyone should know there is a physician in Fall River who can cure such diseases. As I am not very well known in this city, I am at liberty to refer to W. Scott, Esq., No. 1 Ferry street, who saw me when I was in a state of Blindness and since I was cured.
MRS. JEREMIAH CLOMB.

A CARD FROM

Mr. John Beattie Jr.

(From Fall River News.)

FALL RIVER, Jan. 22, 1874.

W. H. CARPENTER, M. D.,—My Dear Sir:—Allow me thus publicly to express my gratitude for the great benefit conferred upon me by your treatment. I was afflicted for years with Catarrh which had become a constant torment to me, the irritation and inflammation having increased until ulceration was the consequence. Your treatment has been attended with the happiest results. I am now comfortable, my head feels well, and I believe myself cured of that terrible disease. JOHN BEATTIE, Jr.

Mr. Beattie is of the well-known Firm of Wm. & J. Beattie, Jr., Granite Dealers and Contractors, 2 Quarry street.

Catarrh Permanently Cured.

(From Fall River News.)

MR. EDITOR:—I am often asked if the cure performed upon me by Dr. Carpenter, last April and May, for Catarrh and Polypus, "was a permanent cure," for many thought I could not be cured, but said, "It will soon return;" but it has not returned. I remain well, and want everybody to know it. I employed six doctors during the fifteen years I was afflicted, but not one helped me or knew what the disease was. My speech and breathing was bad. I had to keep my mouth open, and often to sit up nights to breathe. I tried change of climate, went to England, but that did me no good, and so I suffered until Dr. Carpenter cured me. Money would be no temptation for me to live these years over again. I wish also to mention my daughter's case.—She had a diseased Jaw, which doctors said was cancer, and doctored her, but did not help her. After Dr. Carpenter cured me, I took her to him. He pronounced it scrofula, and advised an operation for the removal of diseased bone. The operation was performed, and he was soon well. It was a happy day for me when Dr. Carpenter came to Fall River.

FARM NOTES.—Croup in chickens often follows catarrh if the latter is not promptly taken in hand. The symptoms are similar. A frothy substance occurs in the inner corner of the eye, the lids swell, the eye ball being, in severe cases, wholly concealed, and the fowl, unable to see or feel, loses all spirit and often dies. A fetid smell is emitted by fowls in advanced stages of this disease.

So long as an egg is an egg and they are sold by count, farmers will not be in haste to exchange thin, small, old-fashioned barnyard fowls for the large, improved and more valuable kinds; neither will they be less likely to go sorting their eggs, selling the small ones to the grocer and the large ones to customers for an extra price, or, what is more commendable, eating them themselves.

To finish a house in what is called rough cast is done by throwing or splashing upon the mortar, while it is yet soft, a mixture of freshly slacked lime, water and clean, fine gravel, which is immediately brushed over and colored a uniform hue. Small stones, pebbles and bits of earthenware and other materials are sometimes dashed on, instead of using the sifted gravel. The use of laths is not advised, for should they warp, the mortar is liable to crack. The rough cast should be made on either brick or stone work.

MICE CLEANING COMBS.—The practice of giving combs, to be cleared of dead bees by mice, has been practiced in frame for more than fifty years. It is good only for those who own the old gums or boxes. As the owner of these immovable hives cannot take out combs, if he wants to preserve some hives full of combs, he has to clean them, to prevent molding, and mice can do that work for them. But the cleanliness of this process is doubtful; wherever mice have access, they impregnate the things around with their special scent, which is far from being agreeable, besides they eat not only the dead bees, but the combs also. There is for us owners of movable comb hives a better way to clean our combs; it is to introduce them in a May colony between two combs full of brood. The next day all dead bees are removed and the comb is scented anew with the odor of living bees.

COAL FOR PIGS.—There is no doubt in our mind of the benefit from feeding crude carbonaceous matter to swine when they are kept in close pens. The avidity with which hogs eat rotten wood is well known. Charcoal is but another form. The utility of feeding wood has long been recognized. We some years since substituted the ordinary western stone coal with the best results where from 200 to 500 hogs were kept in close pens, on the refuse of city hotels. Something of the kind seems as necessary to them as salt to herbivorous animals. We have known them to consume a pound in the course of a day, and again they would not seek the coal for some time. Just what the particular use coal is in the animal economy, is not so easy to answer. Swine are especially liable to scrofulous and inflammatory diseases. Carbon, in shape of coal, is an antiseptic, and the probability is that it acts in this way in purifying the blood.—[Western Rural.
